The BOSS of all hearts

Every successful saga owes its origins to a clear and far-reaching vision.

BOSS had the foresight to recognise a transformation sweeping across Indian households. It envisaged the new roles being donned by the modern Indian women. Thus came the first Hand Held Blender of 1985, unquestionably, a pioneering concept of that time. This landmark product also marked the launch of BOSS Home Appliances - widely known today as an 'asset to every Kitchen'.

Matching pace with the changing consumer needs and fulfilling the company culture of providing international quality products, BOSS has today carved a unique league for self. Embracing new technological developments, BOSS has ensured its product complies with quality standards like ISI, CE. Not surprisingly, BOSS Home Appliances have extended their geographical footprint not just across India, but also in Middle East, Asian and African countries.

Manufacturing Excellence

All BOSS Home Appliance products are manufactured at state-of-the-art facilities at Daman and Himachal Pradesh. These manufacturing units boast of best in class industrial architecture combined with the latest generation equipments. Add to it the highly skilled workforce and dedicated team of professionals at the helm, and it's not hard to imagine why each BOSS product bears the distinctive hallmark of excellence.
